DnyanSetuAI is an independent educational technology platform developed for academic guidance, mentorship, and prediction support. The NEET college prediction module, test planning, and guidance are based on past data trends, statistical modeling, and publicly available information.

By accessing and using our services, the user acknowledges and accepts the following:

- We are not affiliated with NTA, MCC, MoHFW, or any government body.
- Predicted AIR, college lists, or counselling paths are suggestive based on analytics and are not official allotment results.
- The tool does not replace formal government counselling processes.
- No guarantee is made regarding the accuracy or outcome of predictions.
- The information is provided “as is” and may contain inaccuracies based on evolving policies or data availability.

The user bears full responsibility for decision-making based on our predictions or recommendations.
